

Leading Solution for Inspection, Certification & Testing Service Providers

Steton is the leading technology solution for top performing inspection, certification, and testing service providers. The ability to efficiently collect data through audits, inspections, assessments, surveys, etc., followed by the ability to immediately analyze and make corrective actions as a result of that data, makes Steton a necessity for long-term success.

- ✓ Faster audit results
- ✓ More accurate data
- ✓ Advanced data analysis
- ✓ Instant notification of non-compliant issues

PROFITABLE RELATIONSHIPS

Organizations offering independent inspection, certification, and testing services provide entities large and small with insight into performance on multiple fronts. As a provider of these services, the more timely, accurate, and substantive feedback you can provide to your clients, the more sought after, profitable, and long-lasting your relationships become.

ADDED VALUE

Steton integrates the latest mobile computing technology with a flexible, developer-independent application. Steton provides the most comprehensive list of features supporting the unique needs of independent inspection, certification, and testing service providers. Instant notification of non-compliant issues, detailed corrective-action management, and early trend identification are a few samples of the advantages gained.

COMPETITIVE NECESSITY

Offering competitive services requires immediate access to and analysis of collected data. Successful independent service providers like JohnsonDiversey rely on Steton's technology. "Once the audit is performed, results are immediately generated and reports are provided," states Suzanne Schwartz, IS Analyst for JohnsonDiversey. "We see our iMAP program utilizing Steton's software as the technological wave of the future."

TECHNOLOGY STANDARD

Ensure your organization offers the latest technology in support of your data collection and reporting needs. Avoid being trapped by in-house development of basic data capture functionality. Over time, this option proves to be a less efficient means of utilizing your valuable IT investments. With Steton, you are always assured you offer the most cutting-edge data collection and analysis capabilities with the assurance you have the most flexible and scalable long-term solution. "We already knew Steton's software was proven and it worked. Why reinvent the wheel? Steton was an obvious choice for us," states Bergensons Property Services' General Manager, Sherri Lynn Hines.

SUPERIOR PERFORMANCE

Steton ensures your organization can report immediately upon completed audits, provide instant notification of non-compliant issues, and offer overall superior performance to your clients.
